Loaded With School Children Is Wrecked

Eight Killed and Fifteen Hurt at Newark, N. J.

Frightful Disaster Occurred Thursday Morning—Dead and Dying Thrown in all Directions—Motorman Couldn't Stop the Car.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 19.—A Delaware and Lackawanna train struck a trolley car at the Clifton avenue crossing at 8:50 o'clock this morning, completely demolishing the car and instantly killing eight school children and injuring many others, who were on their way to the high school. It is said the gates at the crossing were not in working order at the time of the accident.

It was a Delaware and Passaic express train that hit the trolley. The motorman saw the train coming and put down the breaks, but the car slid over the icy rails till the front projected over the tracks. Then the crash came. Eight are dead and 15 injured. The car was run for high school pupils and was full to the platform. To some death came immediately. Others lingered a moment in fearful agony and then expired. The motorman's skull was fractured and it is thought he will die. The scene of the accident resembled a shambles. The dead or injured children lay in all directions.

Word of the calamity soon reached the authorities and every ambulance in the city was soon on the scene. James G. Aldin of Summit, who is in the insurance business in this city was a passenger on the train. He said that arms, legs and other parts of bodies of the unfortunate children were scattered in every direction and the snow for a great distance around was made blood red. One mutilated body, according to Mr. Aldin, was carried two blocks on the pilot of the engine. "The trolley car," he said, emphatically, "could not be stopped, although the motorman appeared to make frantic efforts to do so. It slipped right along and as the gates were down, got on the tracks and the next thing we knew there was a crash and the mischief was done."

BIG LANDSLIDE

Awakened the Woman Who Ran a Mile to the Nearest Phone and Saved a B. & O. Train From Destruction.

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 19.—Mrs. Mary Ledley, a lone widow who resides near Glover's Gap on the B. & O. Railroad, saved a fast passenger train from destruction Tuesday night, and a score of passengers who were on the belated cars escaped with their lives.

Mrs. Ledley's home is situated on the mountain side near a large cut of the road, and is not far from a long tunnel.

Late that night after she had retired and had fallen to sleep she was awakened by an ominous roar and the fall of stones and dirt and trees upon the track. She knew that a terrible landslide had covered the tracks for some distance, and lighting a lantern she also noticed that it was nearly time for the last mail west-bound to pass.

Hurriedly she dressed and struck out for the nearest telephone station, which is more than a mile away. She was obliged to pick her way across the slip and thus endangering her life, she managed to get to a neighbor's house where she succeeded in arousing them.

The first thing to do was to get word to some telegraph operator along the line. They soon got into communication with the Glover's Gap and Burton Stations, and at the former place the train was caught but only by a few minutes. Had it been on time, however, the train would have passed 10 minutes before.

Crews of trackmen were sent to the scene from both stations, and the track was soon cleared. The matter was reported to Division Engineer A. G. Norton in this city, who has just completed an investigation, and has made a recommendation to the Baltimore office that the plucky woman be rewarded.

INSURANCE FRAUDS

The Most Startling of Any in the Criminal History of New York—An Investigation is Now Proceeding.

New York, Feb. 19.—Assistant Attorney General Krotel says that the insurance fraud case now under investigation in this city promised to develop into one of the most startling ever known in the criminal history of the city.

"Before the district attorney's office has finished its investigation of the astounding and extraordinary New York insurance frauds," he said, "I believe it should not be surprised if it were proved that the conspirators even went so far as to murder in cold blood to get the purpose of collecting the insurance policies. We have found that 23 substitute bodies were passed off on the field, the brother that had been Hancok Insurance company alone and beaten, starved and slashed with a razor as the plotters are indicted and it is believed that the case will be exhumed. The investigation into the remarkable plot has hardly begun."

The fate of Sarah Webster, who it is alleged died from the effects of brutal treatment which it is charged she received at the hands of the conspirators, Mr. Krotel said, was but a single instance.

According to stories told by her relatives, Sarah Webster was tortured in order to compel her to aid in the insurance frauds. When the girl left home for as to murder in cold blood to get the purpose of collecting the insurance policies. We have found that 23 substitute bodies were passed off on the field, the brother that had been Hancok Insurance company alone and beaten, starved and slashed with a razor as the plotters are indicted and it is believed that the case will be exhumed. The investigation into the remarkable plot has hardly begun."

London, Feb. 19.—King Edward has commissioned J. C. Stewart, formerly of Cleveland, O., and connected with the Westinghouse company here to draw up plans for a model factory for a training school at Osborne, which his majesty is going to erect. Stewart promised to have the plans in ten days and to have the building completed by the end of August.

Is Morrical, After Being Blown Up and Left Naked for Hours in the Cold.

Marion, Ind., Feb. 19.—In a nude condition, semi-conscious, Wm. Morrical was found in the debris of an oil pumping station three miles east of Marion. A boiler in the pumping station exploded demolishing the building. The clothing was torn from Morrical's body and he was hurled 40 feet into a field. The steam had scalded his face, breast and limbs. His feet were frozen and his hair hung in icicles. He had been exposed to the weather for five hours, while the thermometer registered 6 degrees below zero. When found and taken to a farmhouse, where stimulants were administered, he revived and talked of the explosion. He is alive tonight. Morrical is 20 years old and has been married only six weeks.

State Treasury.

Columbus, O., Feb. 19.—A quarterly statement of the condition of the state treasury was made to Governor Nash today by Treasurer Cameron and Auditor of State Guilbert. It shows that there is in Ohio's strong box to the credit of the various state funds $4,935,000—all in coin and currency. This figure is against $1,232,000 last year. The increase was largely due to the new revenue measures passed by the last legislature.

TRAGEDY

ENACTED IN HOTEL AT NEW ORLEANS.

Man and Woman Agree to Die Together, But One of the Couple is Still Living.

New Orleans, Feb. 19.—Ella Atkins is dead and Folger Green in the hospital with three wounds as the result of a compact entered into to end their lives. The woman died of morphine poisoning. The man stabbed himself twice in the neck and then slashed his wrists. The tragedy occurred in a room in the Victor hotel on Bourbon street. The couple passed as man and wife and had stopped at the hotel at different times during the past three years.

An effort to awaken the couple failed and the door of the room was forced. The place was found covered with blood, the woman dead and the man bleeding freely. Green said they took morphine together Monday night. When he awoke the woman was dead by his side. He made no report of the case and the body lay in the room all day and night while Green devoted himself to drinking cocktails which were sent to his room. The following note was found:

"Good-bye to all and forgive. Am my own worst enemy and so hence to the Great Beyond through force of circumstances. Notify Miss Atkins, Box 83, Hawsville, Ky., that her sister has at last got home."

(Signed)

Results In Damage of $300,000

FOUR MEN ARE BURIED IN THE RUINS.

FINE NEW Y. M. C. A. BUILDING

Doomed to Destruction—Blaze Started in Fountain Square Building This Morning.

Springfield, O., Feb. 19.—Four men were buried in the ruins of a fire which started at 3:30 o'clock this morning in the basement of the Fountain Square theatre building, owned by Ross Mitchell.

Eight buildings were destroyed and the Y. M. C. A. building, a fine new structure, is burning with no hopes of saving it. The building cost $300,000.

A wall fell, crushing a story and a half building adjoining the opera house building and burying J. H. Mulholland, Warren Pickard, Harry Freet, and Dorsey Crane in the ruins. They were carrying goods out of Mulholland's jewelry store when the wall fell. Men are now at work searching for the bodies. It is hoped that all are not dead. Loss $300,000.

Warren Pickard, section foreman of the Pan Handle railroad, and Harry Freet, who were assisting in removing goods from the jewelry store when the walls fell on them, have been taken from the ruins. Both were pinned down by heavy timbers but not seriously hurt. J. H. Mulholland has not been rescued. He can be seen, but he does not reply to calls, and it is believed he is dead. Dorsey Crane who was thought to be in the ruins has been accounted for. Peter Rude was badly frozen while at work.

Jesse Shaw's Mother Made a Strong Appeal to the Court—Reed-Speer Trial—Court News.

Jesse Shaw, who was, on Monday last, sentenced to pay a fine of $29 and 10 days in jail, for contempt of court, in refusing to be sworn as a witness in the case of Shaw vs. Priest, was discharged Thursday upon payment of the fine of $29. Mr. Shaw's mother made a strong appeal to the court for clemency for her son, and the court remitted the remainder of the jail sentence upon payment of fine and costs.

SHOT DOWN

His Brother's Murderer as the Latter Was Kissing Dead Man's Lips. Luciano Acquitted.

New Orleans, Feb. 19.—Antonio Luciano was acquitted of the murder of Bartolo Ferrari. The killing of Ferrari was one of the chain of tragedies hatched by the Mafia. Jealous of Luciano's success and angered at his refusal to pay tribute the leader of the Mafia had Luciano's house raided last June.

Luciano's brother and cousin were killed and he recognized Ferrari as one of the murderers. Thinking his part in the tragedy unknown, Ferrari attended the double funeral. He then kissed the dead lips of Luciano's brother. Without a word Luciano shot Ferrari down, killing him instantly.

Jailed for the murder Luciano was doomed to pace prison corridors while his wife, to whom he was devoted, died in childbirth. Jurymen heard the recital of Luciano's wrongs and suffering and rendered a verdict of "not guilty" almost as soon as his fate was placed in their hands.

New York, Feb. 19.—The ferry boat Pierpont of the Hamilton Avenue line, was grounded upon the west shore of Governors Island early today by a fierce gale which swept the harbor. The passengers after a thrilling experience were rescued by soldiers of the regular army. Several long planks were thrown across from the sea wall of Governors Island to the stranded boat and over this bridge 30 passengers many of whom were women, stepped ashore. The boat is fast on the rocks.

NEGRO

WHO IS NOW UNDER ARREST IN WEST VIRGINIA

Is Said to be the Murderer of a White Woman—Big Price Set Upon His Head.

Holden, Mo., Feb. 19.—"Bossie" Francis, the alleged negro murderer for whose arrest rewards aggregating $2,750 have been offered, and are still in effect, is believed to be under arrest at Oceana, W. Va. Detective C. W. Clay arrived from Oceana last night with photographs of the man under arrest there, and they are pronounced by the people here who know Francis to be likenesses of Francis. Francis is wanted for the alleged murder of Miss Mary Henderson, near Columbus, this county, on August 27, 1901. The crime was the most atrocious in the recent history of Missouri.

Francis worked for years for Chap Hyatt, a wealthy farmer, and was considered trustworthy. One day Henderson returned home to find his wife's sister, Mary Henderson, who kept house for him, murdered, and a valuable running horse belonging to Francis was missing. Three persons started out on Francis' trail and followed day and night for two weeks. Francis had less than five hours start, was in Camden for consultation. Two of the women claim to have been near him for something to eat, but none of the horses ever sighted him. The offer of $2,750 reward, however, has served to keep officers on the alert and half a dozen men supposed to be Francis have been arrested, only to 1903. She admitted she had secured a divorce from him about 12 years ago, but said this divorce was a condition of the murder, and it is additional one. Davenport, it is said, the elevator came way and they were accompanied by another woman, and it was thought that they were in search of an abductee in a secret place.

Two Fierce Battles Fought on Amapala

Troops of Sierra Defeat Forces of Bonilla

Both Sides Said to Have Sustained Big Losses—Smaller Fights are Reported Daily Near Capital—The War Is On.

New Orleans, Feb. 19.—The war is on in Spanish Honduras between the government troops under General Terencio Sierra and President-elect Manuel Bonilla. Two desperate battles were fought on Amapala Island, off the west coast of that republic, in which Bonilla's army was defeated with great loss. Several fights have taken place in and around Tegucigalpa, the capital, but so far the victories have been about evenly divided except the engagements of the west side.

Information to this effect was received in a personal letter from a prominent American resident of Puerto Cortez. The writer does not desire to reveal his identity for fear of being deported from Honduras, but he has furnished the very latest details of the revolution in that country which have not appeared in the press of the United States.

Writing under date of the 12th inst from Puerto Cortez he says:

"Word has been received at Tegucigalpa that two fights have taken place at Amapala. The rebels were led by General Bonilla. Few details of the battles have been obtained, but the officials know that they were desperate and that hundreds were engaged on both sides.

"No tidings of casualties were received and in all probability, when a summary of the killed and wounded reaches here it will be shown that the losses were great. The rebels were badly defeated, and the victories indicate that the conservatives are able to put up a stubborn fight, though the

HUSBAND'S BODY

Is Claimed by Two Women Who Call Themselves Mrs. Davenport—Ohio Wife Gets the Remains—Estate $50,000.

Philadelphia, Feb. 19.—Thomas C. W. Davenport of Collingswood, N. J., a well-known produce dealer of Philadelphia and at one time president of the Produce and Commission Dealers' Association, died at the homeopathic hospital, Camden, yesterday. At first his death was said to be surrounded with suspicious circumstances, but an examination showed that death was due to Bright's disease.

A few hours after his death several women and lawyers from Philadelphia and another party of women, claiming to be Mrs. Davenport, came to the hospital. One of the women, who gave the name of Mrs. Ann Davenport, claimed the body on the ground that she had been married to Davenport in Ohio, in 1868. She admitted she had secured a divorce from him about 12 years ago, but said this divorce was a condition of the murder, and it is additional one. Davenport, it is said, the elevator came way and they were accompanied by another woman, and it was thought that they were in search of an abductee in a secret place.

On the other hand, Alice Davenport, wife of No. 2, claims that there is a will. After a consultation with the counsel, Morgan Keener O'Brien was called in and it was decided that he should turn over the remains to Mrs. Mary Ann Davenport wife No. 1.

As a result of this action, the O'Brien plan may be called upon to go to court for a ruling of marriage No. 2. While Morgan Keener O'Brien was removing the body from the hospital the check rope on the elevator came way and they were accompanied by another woman, and it was thought that they were in search of an abductee in a secret place.

JUDGE PARKER'S CANDIDACY FOR PRESIDENT.

Chief Justice Alton B. Parker, of New York is receiving support for the Democratic Presidential nomination of the most substantial character from all sections of the country. Other candidates mentioned do not seem to have such an effective support as that which is accorded to Judge Parker, and there is no question that he is being seriously considered by leading Democrats in all section for his availability and popularity as well as his great ability. He is universally held as a level-headed man; is personally very popular in the State of New York and for this reason his strength is gaining in all portions of the country where his name is discussed. The Brooklyn Eagle, an independent paper, states the case in a way that will be welcomed by all who favor a fair discussion of a Democratic candidate for next year. It says:

"He is in the prime of life, being but 51 years old. He has nine years in front of him in his present exalted position, which he has filled with acceptability and dignity. He has taken no part in politics whatever, though his vote for candidates of his party can never be questioned. He is a resident of a State which his party must carry to win the presidency. He is a man of scholarship, fellowship, fidelity, modesty, judgment and charm. He is thus singularly fitted by career, by character, by conditions, by circumstances, successfully to appeal to the Democratic hope and the Democratic thought."

The Republican currency tinkers at Washington appear to be determined to make banks unsafe by putting some lien on assets ahead of the claims of depositors. It is this done the country will have ample cause for regret in the future. The first duty of a bank is to its depositors.

"Most astonishing! I never heard that before!"
"Oh, well, of course, it isn't quite so bad as that. I was only joking."

Scheme to Fool the People And Do the Trusts No Harm.

Great stress is laid on the so-called publicity law, incorporated as part of the act creating the new department of commerce, as a trust remedy. It is simply a trust evasion. The "publicity" amendment, which is a section of the new department law, declares that there shall be in the department of commerce a bureau of corporations, of which the chief shall be called the commissioner of corporations, with a salary of $5,000 a year; and

The said commissioner shall have power and authority to make, under the direction and control of the secretary of commerce and labor, diligent investigation into organization, conduct and management of the business of any corporation, joint stock company, or corporate combination engaged in commerce among the several states and with foreign nations, excepting common carriers subject to an act to regulate commerce, approved February 4, 1887, and to gather such information and data as will enable the President of the United States to make recommendations to Congress for legislation for the regulation of such commerce, and to report such data to the President from time to time as he shall require; and the information so obtained, or as much thereof as the President may direct, shall be made public.

This is simply a permissive law. It commands nothing. In endeavoring to root out publicity the commissioner of corporations is subject to two superfluous powers, first the secretary of commerce, and then the President. He is not an independent official, with duties prescribed by law. Nothing of the kind. If the trusts remain masters of the situation at Washington, and no one doubts that they will, they will measure out the amount of publicity.

Publicity. The corporations may be called on to furnish very full information as to their affairs and methods of doing business, and the President may use this information as the basis of recommendations to Congress, or he may make it public. That is all. Nothing is mandatory. There are no penalties prescribed save for refusing to furnish information. There is no mention of crimes or offenses. The act is not remedial; it aims only to make disclosure compulsory. Publicity is another matter. Where it won't pay the trusts, why that is another matter. The whole thing will be in the hands of the President and the secretary of commerce, who may be favorably disposed to trusts and opposed to anything that will impair their power. What would the steel trust or the Standard Oil trust care for such a law? Mr. Rockefeller or Mr. Schwab or his successor would only have to see the President and his secretary of commerce.

Reviewing the legislation proposed by this "anti-trust buster," the New York Times thinks it admirably accomplishes the intentions of the lawmakers. It will appease the public clamor against the trusts and will do the combinations no harm. That is to say, it will fool the people, and that is the purpose of the administration and Congress. If anything effective was intended, the tariff would be struck from trust-made products. But that was not permitted to even come to consideration and a vote under the Congressional gag rule.

Field of Sport.

Jeffries-Fitz Tour Abandoned.
Columbus, O., Feb. 19.—Fitzsimmons and Jeffries announced last night that they had cancelled all Ohio engagements for their sparring contests. They were billed to appear at Mansfield and Piquette tonight, but a fear of the law of the state led them to give up their tour as far as Ohio is concerned. They were at Nelsonville on Tuesday night and before they went on the stage they were advised by the city authorities that if they gave any kind of a sparring exhibition they would be arrested. They did not give the show. Both of the men said that they did not care to come in contact with Governor Nash and his "prejudiced" views against boxing. Rather than run up against expensive court litigation they will jump the state. On Friday they will put on their show at Richmond, Ind., and on Saturday they go to Terre Haute. The Terre Haute engagement will close their tour and they will return east.

Cutts to Coach Purdue.
Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 19.—The Purdue University Athletic Association has signed a contract with Oliver F. Cutts, the famous tackle of Harvard football fame, to coach the Purdue University football team for next season.

Rausch Now in France.
Jockey J. Rausch has now reached France, where he will ride for William K. Vanderbilt. He has a good contract with Mr. Vanderbilt, and as there is every indication that this stable will be stronger this season than ever before Rausch's chances to rival the clever performances of Reiff in that country are especially bright. Rausch is one of the live products of the west who invade the east at infrequent intervals and show a knack for riding horses. The youngster can ride at about 105 pounds, and, with George Thompson, will do the lightweight work for the Vanderbilt stable. Nash Turner sailed for France recently, and this experienced American jockey will do the heavyweight jockeyship for the stable.

Rausch came into prominence in the spring of 1900 and for a time was under the wing of James Howe. He rode for Hardy Durham also, and his victory with Merito at Gravesend, New York, first attracted the attention of eastern turfmen. Rausch rode then at eighty-seven pounds, and his two wins with the filly made him many friends. Last year Rausch had the largest number of winners to his credit, and, although he did not ride with the best jockeys all the time, he was consistent and won on horses with which Buchanan, Burns and other more expensive jockeys failed.

"Pop" Anson in Politics.
Captain Adrian Constantine Anson of baseball fame is a candidate for the nomination for city treasurer of Chicago. "I've got a chance," he says. "The office has more attractions for me than the pennant used to have in my baseball days. I know the others who are after it are old out wise in the political game. But watch me. I'll throw 'em out at first. A hard fight is ahead of me. But that's all right. I'm used to hard fights. I have talked to Mayor Harrison, and he has given me encouragement."

Big Indoor Meet.
To secure a representative gathering for the ten mile running championship of the A. A. U. at Madison Square Garden, New York, March 14, the Greater New York Irish-American Athletic association will offer seven prizes for the event. Between the two mile and cross country, intercollegiate champion Carr, the St. Xavier phenom, and Bailie, who was the hearts of the Englishmen by his splendid running almost last summer, are expected to face the starter at the Garden.

Lost and Michigan.
A recent report from Lincoln, Neb., indicates that Edith Coach West intends to return to Michigan university next fall, and that students of the university are exceedingly pleased. According to a Lincoln interview West said: "Next fall I go with Missions next year. I have been running place in the west during the last few weeks, but I think I shall finally drift back to Michigan again."

Waiver of Football Profits.
After paying guarantees and percentages to visiting teams and paying his own expenses the University of Michigan football team practically cleaned up over $15,000 for the athletic association last year. Charles Baird has been appointed athletic director for three more years, and Thomas B. Roberts football manager.

Little Sullivan's Big Protege.
Jack Reardon, a 210 pound wrestler from Australia, has placed himself in the hands of Dave Sullivan, the featherweight fighter. He comes to well recommended that Dave has notified Champion McLeod, Tom Jenkins and Piening, the "Butcher Boy," that they can have a match with Reardon at any time.

McLean's New Venture.
Eddie Murphy, the suspended N. C. A. cycling promoter, has branched out as manager of "Sandy" Ferguson, the Chelsea (Mass.) strong boy, in the prize ring. McLean defies the N. C. A. to stop him in his new field and will doubtless continue in pugilism until the six day race matter is adjusted.

Sears Out of Running.
Sears, the fast Cornell sprinter, has been compelled to give up all athletic work on account of being behind in his studies. This means a severe blow to the Ithaca's track team's hopes.

Lipton's Next Cup Gift.
Sir Thomas Lipton will present a cup to the Corinthian Yacht club of San Diego, Cal., which will be made a perpetual challenge cup for races open to all Pacific coast clubs.

Three More Enter Suburban.
The entries for the Suburban handicap have been brought up to a total of eighty-three by the nominations of Cunnard, Sombrero and Lord Budge.

Royal Golfers.
The claim of golf to be described as a "royal and ancient game" is well maintained by the support given to it by the present reigning house, says a London newspaper. Recently at Gopsall, where the king and queen were the guests of Earl Howe, himself a good golfer and frequently appearing in parliamentary tournaments, their majesties visited the golf course on Lord Howe's estate. Willie Park, Jr., had been engaged to give a display of driving before the royal party, and no easier or more graceful swing can be seen among the professionals than that of the former Musselburgh professional. Afterward the prime minister and Mrs. Sassoon played a foursome against Lord Herbert Vane Tempest and Lord Howe, the last named couple winning.

should make a good showing when he meets Sailor Tom Sharkey next summer.

Sharkey is confident, as usual, of defeating his opponent, but the miner is sure that Tom will go down and out in short order. The bout is scheduled to take place either June 13 or July 4 in Butte, and both men will train industriously.

Big Driving Race.
The Gentlemen's Driving club of Cleveland has decided to offer a gold trophy valued at $5,000 for the best horses that can be raced for it. Any club that wins three times becomes its owner. To be eligible a horse must have started in at least two matinees for at least thirty days prior to the contest for the trophy. The race may take place as early as Aug. 15 and not later than Sept. 15.

Paris-Madrid Auto Race.

The order of start will be decided by vote.

Terre Haute and the "Big Circle."
President Hams of the Terre Haute Trotting association says the association dropped out of the grand circuit meetings because Terre Haute is on the wrong place in the map and has had enough bad experience getting a tail end of the meetings and the bad weather after the middle of September. The Terre Haute association will not enter any circuit and will fix its dates independently of the circuit dates, but with regard to the best results for Terre Haute.

Better "Get a Move On," Murphy.
Eddie Murphy is one of the most popular of St. Louis pitchers, but if he does not report in good shape he probably will be released, even though he has been a member of the National league team for two seasons. Last season Murphy was only an expense to the club. Apparently in good health, he complained of a sore arm or a tired feeling. He was carried along all season and pitched but few games.

Martin Home Again.

ON THE LICKING COUNTY GAS FIELD.

Editor of Utica Herald Shows What the Big Fuel Territory Means to Farmers.

(Utica Herald.)

It is a matter of remark that the farmers of this section as well as the townsmen have more ready money and are more prosperous than ever before. It is known the productivity of the farm lands hereabouts, both in grains, hay and live stock is almost phenomenal, and that prices have kept up to a money making point the past year. But the gas rentals are an important factor in the general prosperity.

For instance: Burlington township is approximately six miles square, containing 36 square miles or 23,040 acres. In the entire township we believe there are but 110 acres not now under lease. Much of this was let early, at 50 cents an acre, while the remainder brings $2 and upward, some small pieces $5 to $10 an acre. Might not $1 an acre be a fair average? That would give the farmers a rental of $22,930 a year, all clear profit for the farm value of their lands is not impaired a dollar.

But that is not all. There are in the township about 90 producing wells. At the minimum price per well the farmers receive absolutely $18,000 a year for the wells, besides free gas in at least 100 dwellings, worth at a low estimate $25 per year, or $2,500 more. Some of the wells are on little lots of a quarter acre, some on four or five acre pieces. If we allow an average of 50 acres of land rental to be cut off by each well, we need deduct but $1,800 from the $22,930 leaving $21,130. The income to the farmers is on that basis as follows: Land rentals, $18,000; well rentals, $18,000; fuel and light bills saved, same as cash, $2,500; total $38,930 per year.

The above is for the one township only. The gas field which is leased covers an area equal to about four townships, and the leases in the other three are mostly at a price of $2 an acre or double the average for Burlington which was gobbled up early. Let allow the extra price to balance the fewer finished wells, and count Burlington as an average for the four townships. Four times $38,930 are $155,720. Distribute that amount of money each year almost equally over a territory a dozen miles square in addition to the normal income, and at the same time give every man all the work he can do at increased wages, and how can the community be other than prosperous.

LIKE A CURSE REMOVED

Awful skin disease of this woman cured in a few weeks after fifteen years' terrible affliction.

Note the ghastly despair in the photo taken before treatment.

(Case of Mrs. J. M. Daniels of Winchester, Ky.—completely cured by D. D. D. after 15 years' application. She had suffered fifteen years.)

See the same features—but note how different when brightened with hope and happiness, after her freedom from it all.

Reader! This is more than medicine talk. It is humanity to enlighten sufferers about this.

The most virulent skin diseases are conquered—every time—in all cases—without any exception—all cleared away in a few weeks—by the brilliantly clever new skin prescription, "D. D. D." Its work is hardy, equalled by any other wonders of modern medical practice.

I guarantee this to be true

HALL'S DRUG STORE, 10 N. Side Newark, O.

Enough has been proven to me—regarding the above case and hundreds of others—to demonstrate beyond all question whatever that any of the known forms of skin disease—any eruption or breaking out—must quickly give way and disappear under the influence of this prescription (known as "D. D. D."). Cases of Eczema, Salt Lumps, Ring Worm, Psoriasis, Barber's Itch, Acne, etc., some of twenty years' standing have been cleared off and permanently cured in a few weeks. In several cases from one to three years have elapsed and there has been no returning sign of the disease. Hundreds of cases cured since the preparation has been placed on sale show no sign of all of the previous affliction and I fully believe they are permanent cures.

(Signed)

FRANK D. HALL.

Have you been—or do you know anyone—who has been—in a living hell of torture with a skin disease? Dispar usually seizes those so afflicted. Many imagine it is in the blood and too subtle to cure. Doctors have stood baffled and helpless against Eczema. Half of them think its worse forms are blood poison. Ninety-nine cases out of a hundred of manifestations on the skin are purely local—SKIN disease—not BLOOD disease. Healthy blooded people break out as often as any one, but the blood has nothing to do with it in most cases. It is a parasite in the skin that spreads. This prescription is today completely clearing away—quickly too—and permanently curing every trace of such parasitic trouble and leaves the skin soft, healthy and perfect. Call on the above druggist and investigate the unquestionable proofs in his possession.

The prescription is sold in above drug store at $1.00 for a liberal bottle, and comes under authentic label of the D. D. D. Company of Chicago—who solely compound the prescription for druggists everywhere.

HE WAS THE FELLOW

"My dear fellow, your ideas of women are all abominable rot, if you'll excuse my saying so."

"Don't mention it. All the same, I know more of women than you do. I'm only putting you on your guard. Tell me about your goddess."

"Can't you be serious? I'm in earnest this time. I want to talk seriously about her. I want to know what you think of her."

"Well, I think she's pretty; I think her eyes are blue and guileless; I think her hair the brightest and her figure the neatest I have ever seen, and I think—I have met her before somewhere. Yet she didn't seem to remember me, did she? It must have been before I went to the cape. Let me see—two years ago. Tell me, has she ever loved before? For surely, with so much beauty and soul yours is not the first heart she has taken captive."

"Look here. Drop poetry. That's just what I want to tell you about, only, upon my word, you make it so jolly hard for a chap to tell you anything. What's come over you? One would think by the way you talk about women that you'd been crossed in love or something, only I can't think any woman would be such an idiot. I suppose you're about the most popular man about town. Why don't you drop cynicism and get married?"

"Never mind me, you were going to tell me that—"

"She's been engaged before."

"Well, that's not serious. Most of them have. Who broke it off?"

"She, of course. You don't imagine any fellow who had once won her dear little heart would part with it in a hurry, do you? From all I can make out the man was a lazy scoundrel, and she, to show you the good sort she is, didn't care to marry a man who lounged about all his days and never exerted himself to work for her."

"Had he no money?"

"Only a paltry $2,000 a year. What's that to a girl like her? Of course naturally she wants, with her good looks, to hold some sort of a position in town. She, like the good angel she is, tried to spur him on to work, but he as good as told her that if $2,000 a year wasn't enough for her, well—it ought to be, or something like that. Then he went abroad."

(Tom Goring to himself) "To the cape and returned unexpectedly, but in time." (Aloud) "Yes? Anything else?"

"Yes. Not only that, but he was a profoundly jealous brute."

"Absolutely without cause?"

"Of course, just as though a girl with her lofty ideas would stoop to flirtation when she was engaged to be married."

"Look here, Malcolm, you take her part. Naturally you're a bit down on the chap she was engaged to. D'you think it's quite fair when you've only heard one side? Suppose I told you I knew the fellow she was engaged to?"

"Well, I should still take her part."

"Quite right. I admire you for it, but give the other fellow a chance and look before you leap. Love is all very well, but beware of infatuation, my boy. You've known her how long?"

"Two months, and I've seen her every day. Last night, as you know, she accepted me."

"And your $10,000 a year and your future chance—a very good one—of a baronetcy. No, don't get up; keep calm. I don't want to see you make a mess of your life. First of all, when you began to talk about her I thought it was just another of your larks. I thought probably you could take care of yourself. But, upon my word, you're a bit too trusting, not to say green, for this wicked world; so, though I don't like interfering, I'll just tell you something you ought to know, and then you can think it over and take your own way. I'll have no more to say. You've known me all your life—haven't you?—and you profess, I believe, to have a good opinion of me. At any rate you know I'm not a liar. I know the fellow she was engaged to. I have known him for years. He wasn't a bad sort; a bit lazy perhaps, but still—well, anyway, he's got heaps of friends. I don't want to say anything bad of your—your fiancée but just this—she never spurred him on to work. She knew work was out of the question for him. He wasn't so very young, poor chap. Had to winter abroad occasionally, and that sort of thing—nothing serious. When she heard his income was only a paltry $2,000 a year she just set about finding an excuse to be out of it."

"Once with his own ears accidental—ly this fellow overheard her talking to her dearest girl friend, and this was what she said: 'I haven't the heart to break it off with him, he's so much in love, but I'm just flirting about all I can so that he may have an excuse to back out of it.'"

"I don't believe it. It's a gross slander. If I could get hold of that fellow, by Jove, I'd thrash him. That's his story. Why should you believe it more than hers? You bring me face to face with that fellow, that's all."

"That's very easily done."

"What d'you mean?"

"I am that fellow."

Her Feast.

"I love all that is beautiful in art and nature," she said, turning her dreamy eyes to him. "I revel in the green fields, the building brooks and the little wayside flowers. I feast on the beauties of earth and sky and air. They are my daily life and food, and—"

"Maudie!" cried out the mother from the kitchen, not knowing that her daughter's feast was in the drawing room. "Maudie, what ever made you go and slobber up that big dish of mashed potatoes that was left over from dinner? I told you we wanted them warmed up for supper. If your appetite isn't enough to banish your poor father!"

Miss Alice Bailey, of Atlanta, Ga., tells how she was permanently cured of inflammation of the ovaries, escaped surgeon's knife, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I had suffered for three years with terrible pains at the time of menstruation, and did not know what the trouble was until the doctor pronounced it inflammation of the ovaries, and proposed an operation."

"I felt so weak and sick that I felt sure that I could not survive the ordeal. The following week I read an advertisement in the paper of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in such an emergency, and so I decided to try it. Great was my joy to find that I actually improved after taking two bottles, and in the end I was cured by it. I had gained eighteen pounds and was in excellent health."

—MISS ALICE BAILEY, 50 North Boulevard Atlanta, Ga.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

The symptoms of inflammation and disease of the ovaries are a dull, throbbing pain, accompanied by a sense of tenderness and heat low down in the side, with occasional shooting pains. The region of pain sometimes shows some swelling.

How Sick You Are or How Many Physicians Have Failed to Help You.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy will Cure You if a Cure is Possible.

Doctors are not infallible and there are many instances where they have decided a case was hopeless and then the patients astonished everyone by getting well and the sole cause of their cure was Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. A case in point is that of James Lettice of Canajoharie, N. Y., who writes:

"Some years ago I was attacked with pains in my back and side that were fearful in the extreme. I could not control my kidneys at all and what came from them was mucous and blood. I was in a terrible state and suffered terribly. A prominent physician of Albany, N. Y., decided that an operation was all that would save me. I dreaded that and commenced to take Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. I felt better almost instantly. When I had taken about two bottles, the flow from the bladder was much cleaner, the pain stopped and I was saved from the surgeon's knife and am now well."

Dr. W. H. Morse, the famous physician of Westfield, N. J., has this to say of this great medicine:

"I have known it to cure chronic inflammation of the kidneys, where the attending physician pronounced the case incurable."

No form of kidney, liver, bladder or blood disease, or the distressing sicknesses so common to women, can long withstand the great curative power of this famous specific. Its record of cures has made it famous in medical circles everywhere.

PECULIAR

CHARGE MADE BY RELATIVES AGAINST WIDOW

Of George D. Blanchard Who Died in 1900—Woman is Credited With Hypnotic Powers.

New York, Feb. 19.—Having successfully evaded repeated efforts on the part of process servers to get into her residence, No. 1 Washington square north, in order to serve her with papers in an action to upset the probate of the will of her husband, Mrs. Delia A. Blanchard, widow of George R. Blanchard, formerly Commissioner for the Joint Traffic Association, must, by order of the Court, submit to having the process served upon any person in authority at her residence, or it may be seized to the outer door.

Action has been begun in the Supreme Court in behalf of Clarence A. Blanchard and Nellie B. Hoyt of Baltimore, and Hattie B. Fuller of Washington, D. C., brother and sisters of M. Blanchard, against the widow, and Charles D. Ingersoll, executrix and executor of the will, for the purpose of gaining a share in the estate. Another sister, Mrs. Ada B. Skinner, who declined to participate in the bringing of the action, is made a party defendant.

Mr. Blanchard died on October 8, 1900. By the terms of his will he left his entire estate to his widow, ignoring all his relatives. His gross personal estate was appraised at a valuation of $100,000 but it was found that his liabilities exceeded his personal assets by $10,000, his principal liability being a balance due H. L. Horton & Co., bankers and brokers, with whom he had many large deals, for $148,243. This sum has been paid over since his death, so that his fortune is now represented by his real estate. It is now charged that the execution of his will was obtained by undue influence, and when he was not competent to understand the nature of his act.

It is alleged by the relatives that prior to the time he made his will Mr. Blanchard was very unhappy and contemplated applying for a divorce. They assert that Mrs. Blanchard acquired the power of hypnotism and exercised that power so far as she could over her husband to his detriment physically and mentally.

RAILROAD AFFAIRS OF THE DAY.

ANXIETY

CAUSED BY FAILURE TO FIND MR. STAPLETON.

Newark Brakeman Had Become Ill and Many Thought He Had Fallen from B. & O. Train.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 19.—The unexplained absence of Brakeman John Stapleton of Newark, brakeman on the west bound B. & O. passenger train No. 47 upon its arrival in this city last night caused much anxiety on the part of his co-workers and other railroad employees.

When the train arrived at the depot at 7:55 p. m. the conductor reported that he was unable to locate John Stapleton, the brakeman, and feared that he had fallen from the train. He stated that he was on the train at Sonora, but since then he had not seen him.

Orders were immediately issued to have a search of the road between Sonora and this city made and the yard engine with a rescuing party left the depot at the same time the section gang left Sonora coming west.

The party from this city was composed of Assistant Ticket Agent Price, Detective Foreman and the yard crew. Before starting the members of the party provided themselves with a stretcher.

In about half an hour after the departure of the yard engine a message was received announcing the safety of the brakeman and the searching party returned.

It developed that after the train left Sonora, Mr. Stapleton was taken ill and entered unnoticed the closet in the sleeping car. When the train arrived here he was too ill to make his appearance on the platform as usual.

DEATH

Of Jos. Simpson, Former Newark Man, at Philadelphia After Operation for Bronchitis.

The sad intelligence was received by friends in this city on Wednesday night of the death of Mr. Joseph Simpson, a former well known and highly respected young man of this city. The deceased was the eldest son of the late Thomas Simpson, one of Newark's former prominent residents, and he died in Philadelphia on Wednesday morning from the result of an operation performed for bronchitis on February 4th. The deceased had been a resident of Philadelphia for the past fourteen years. He leaves a wife and a little son aged seven years. Mrs. Thomas Simpson, the mother of the deceased, and his brother, Walter Simpson, leave for Philadelphia Thursday evening to attend the funeral. Much sympathy is felt for the family and friends in their bereavement.

GRAND MASTER

OF SWITCHMEN'S UNION IN THE CITY.

Open Meeting Held at Night Attended by Men of All Branches of the Service.

Frank T. Hawley, Grand Master of the Switchmen's Union of North America, arrived here on B. & O. train 104 on Wednesday and held a meeting in B. of L. E. hall in the afternoon at 3 o'clock for the benefit of the night switchmen, who were unable to attend the night meeting. The meeting was attended by a large number of switchmen. Mr. Hawley spoke of the rapid strides the switchmen's organization were making for the betterment of the condition of the men employed in yard service. He showed that the organization had gained recognition from the great trunk lines of the country, and that two years ago before the insurance feature went into effect the switchmen's organization numbered less than 6,000 men, while today it numbers more than 17,000 men, having gained 360 new members during the month of January. Mr. Hawley spoke of the good and welfare of the order in general, and after the exemplification of the secret work the meeting closed.

An open meeting at which all the railroad men of the city had been invited, was held in B. of L. E. hall on Wednesday night, and was attended by a goodly number of railroad men, representing all the branches of the service. Mr. Hawley's principal topic for discussion was "Class Organization for All Railroad Men." He showed by statistics that one class of railroad men could not legislate for men employed in another class. After the open meeting a closed session was held for the benefit of the men employed in the day time, at which Mr. Hawley spoke along the same lines he had in the afternoon, and after instructing the day men in the secret work, the meeting closed. Mr. Hawley left this morning on 111 for Cincinnati, where he will address a big meeting of railroad men this afternoon and another meeting this evening. Frank T. Hawley is a man who is well qualified for the responsible position he holds.

MUSIC

Loving People Will Hear a Good Program at Taylor Hall Next Saturday Night

The music loving people of Newark who heard Dr. Herman Monroe of Parkersburg, W. Va., at the Mendelssohn recital given in the High school auditorium recently, will be glad of the privilege of hearing him in a song recital in Taylor Hall next Saturday evening, Feb. 21. His singing is very greatly appreciated wherever he appears.

One of the leading Wheeling papers has the following to say of him:

"The solo work of Dr. Monroe far exceeded expectations, as he is a new singer, but possessed of a voice superior to any heard in this city since the days of McKinley. Dr. Monroe's voice is a tenor of unusual sweetness and full of resonance and with it has a method that would make many more noted singers who have appeared here envious. His singing of the solo, 'If With All Your Hearts' from the oratorio, 'Elijah' by Mendelssohn, won for him an immediate engagement in this city at one of the biggest musical events to occur this season."

With Miss Bertha Penney to sing a duet with Dr. Monroe and the High School Glee Club contributing several numbers on the program, this promises to be one of the most delightful of the series of Popular Saturday Night Entertainments. Reserved seats may be secured at the Y. M. C. A. at the popular price, 10 cents.

It's a pity that the woman didn't marry the other fellow. (So her husband thinks.)

Every woman loves to think of the time when a soft little body, all her own, will nestle in her bosom, fully satisfying the yearning which lies in the heart of every good woman. But yet there is a black cloud hovering about the pretty picture in her mind which fills her with terror. The dread of childbirth takes away much of the joy of motherhood. And yet it need not be so. For sometimes there has been upon the market, well-known and recommended by physicians, a liniment called which makes childbirth as simple and easy as nature intended it. It is a strengthening, penetrating liniment, which the skin readily absorbs. It gives the muscles elasticity and vigor, prevents sore breasts, morning sickness and the loss of the girlish figure.

Confession.—Any person engaged in active business life is apt to become careless in regard to his regular hours. I found that after six years of activity in the rush of city life, I had become very irregular regarding my meals, often eating my last meal late at night, after the busy day was over. I soon found myself suffering with dyspepsia, which gave me many an unpleasant hour. As my health had always been perfect before, I could hardly realize that I needed attention as a sick woman. I was advised to use

PECULIAR

CHARGE MADE BY RELATIVES AGAINST WIDOW

Of George D. Blanchard Who Died in 1900—Woman is Credited With Hypnotic Powers.

New York, Feb. 19.—Having successfully evaded repeated efforts on the part of process servers to get into her residence, No. 1 Washington square north, in order to serve her with papers in an action to upset the probate of the will of her husband, Mrs. Delia A. Blanchard, widow of George R. Blanchard, formerly Commissioner for the Joint Traffic Association, must, by order of the Court, submit to having the process served upon any person in authority at her residence, or it may be relied to the outer door.

Action has been begun in the Supreme Court in behalf of Clarence A. Blanchard and Nellie B. Hoyt of Baltimore, and Hattie B. Fuller of Washington, D. C., brother and sisters of Mr. Blanchard, against the widow, and Charles D. Ingersoll, executrix and executor of the will, for the purpose of gaining a share in the estate. Another sister, Mrs. Ada B. Skinner, who declined to participate in the bringing of the action, is made a party defendant.

Mr. Blanchard died on October 8, 1900. By the terms of his will he left his entire estate to his widow, ignoring all his relatives. His gross personal estate was appraised at a valuation of $160,000 but it was found that his liabilities exceed his personal assets by $10,000, his principal liability being a balance due H. L. Horton & Co., bankers and brokers, with whom he had many large deals, for $148,243. This sum has been paid over since his death, so that his fortune is now represented by his real estate. It is now charged that the execution of his will was obtained by undue influence, and when he was not competent to understand the nature of his act.

It is alleged by the relatives that prior to the time he made his will Mr. Blanchard was very unhappy and contemplated applying for a divorce. They assert that Mrs. Blanchard acquired the power of hypnotism and exercised that power so far as she could over her husband to his detriment physically and mentally.

RAILROAD AFFAIRS OF THE DAY.

ANXIETY

CAUSED BY FAILURE TO FIND MR. STAPLETON.

Newark Brakeman Had Become Ill and Many Thought He Had Fallen from B. & O. Train.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 19.—The unexplained absence of Brakeman John Stapleton of Newark, brakeman on the west bound B. & O. passenger train No. 47 upon its arrival in this city last night caused much anxiety on the part of his co-workers and other railroad employees.

When the train arrived at the depot at 7:55 p. m. the conductor reported that he was unable to locate John Stapleton, the brakeman, and feared that he had fallen from the train. He stated that he was on the train at Sonora, but since then he had not seen him.

Orders were immediately issued to have a search of the road between Sonora and this city made and the yard engine with a rescuing party left the depot at the same time the section gang left Sonora coming west. The party from this city was composed of Assistant Ticket Agent Price, Detective Foreman and the yard crew. Before starting the members of the party provided themselves with a stretcher.

In about half an hour after the departure of the yard engine a message was received announcing the safety of the brakeman and the searching party returned. It developed that after the train left Sonora, Mr. Stapleton was taken ill and entered unnoticed the closet in the sleeping car. When the train arrived here he was too ill to make his appearance on the platform as usual.

DEATH

Of Jos. Simpson, Former Newark Man, at Philadelphia After Operation for Bronchitis.

The sad intelligence was received by friends in this city on Wednesday night of the death of Mr. Joseph Simpson, a former well known and highly respected young man of this city. The deceased was the eldest son of the late Thomas Simpson, one of Newark's former prominent residents, and he died in Philadelphia on Wednesday morning from the result of an operation performed for bronchitis on February 4th. The deceased had been a resident of Philadelphia for the past fourteen years. He leaves a wife and a little son aged seven years. Mrs. Thomas Simpson, the mother of the deceased, and his brother, Walter Simpson, leave for Philadelphia Thursday evening to attend the funeral. Much sympathy is felt for the family and friends in their bereavement.

GRAND MASTER

OF SWITCHMEN'S UNION IN THE CITY.

Open Meeting Held at Night Attended by Men of All Branches of the Service.

Frank T. Hawley, Grand Master of the Switchmen's Union of North America, arrived here on B. & O. train 101 on Wednesday and held a meeting in B. of L. E. hall in the afternoon at 3 o'clock for the benefit of the night switchmen, who were unable to attend the night meeting. The meeting was attended by a large number of switchmen. Mr. Hawley spoke of the rapid strides the switchmen's organization were making for the betterment of the condition of the men employed in yard service. He showed that the organization had gained recognition from the great trunk lines of the country, and that two years ago before the insurance feature went into effect the switchmen's organization numbered less than 6,000 men, while today it numbers more than 17,000 men, having gained 360 new members during the month of January. Mr. Hawley spoke of the good and welfare of the order in general, and after the exemplification of the secret work the meeting closed.

An open meeting at which all the railroad men of the city had been invited, was held in B. of L. E. hall on Wednesday night, and was attended by a goodly number of railroad men representing all the branches of the service. Mr. Hawley's principal topic for discussion was "Class Organization for All Railroad Men." He showed by statistics that one class of railroad men could not legislate for men employed in another class. After the open meeting a closed session was held for the benefit of the men employed in the day time, at which Mr. Hawley spoke along the same lines he had in the afternoon, and after instructing the day men in the secret work, the meeting closed. Mr. Hawley left this morning on 111 for Cincinnati, where he will address a big meeting of railroad men this afternoon and another meeting this evening. Frank T. Hawley is a man who is well qualified for the responsible position he holds.

MUSIC

Loving People Will Hear a Good Program at Taylor Hall Next Saturday Night

The music loving people of Newark who heard Dr. Herman Monroe of Parkersburg, W. Va., at the Mendelssohn recital given in the High school auditorium recently, will be glad of the privilege of hearing him in a song recital in Taylor Hall next Saturday evening, Feb. 21. His singing is very greatly appreciated wherever he appears.

One of the leading Wheeling papers has the following to say of him:

"The solo work of Dr. Monroe far exceeded expectations, as he is a new singer, but possessed of a voice superior to any heard in this city since the days of McKinley. Dr. Monroe's voice is a tenor of unusual sweetness and full of resonance and with it has a method that would make many more noted singers who have appeared here envious. His singing of the solo, 'If With All Your Hearts' from the oratorio, 'Elijah' by Mendelssohn, won for him an immediate engagement in this city at one of the biggest musical events to occur this season."

With Miss Bertha Penney to sing a duet with Dr. Monroe and the High School Glee Club contributing several numbers on the program, this promises to be one of the most delightful of the series of Popular Saturday Night Entertainments. Reserved seats may be secured at the Y. M. C. A. at the popular price, 10 cents.

But yet there is a black cloud hovering about the pretty picture in her mind which fills her with terror. The dread of childbirth takes away much of the joy of motherhood. And yet it need not be so. For sometime there has been upon the market, well-known and recommended by physicians, a liniment called

AMUSEMENTS.

Bristling with humor, seething with hilarious comic situations and interpolated from beginning to end with bright and novel specialties and musical numbers, "The Liberty Belles," the new musical comedy by Harry B. Smith, presented by Frank Hennessey's company, held the stage of the Madison Square Theatre, New York, for three months, scoring the greatest financial record in the history of that house. This is a most remarkable and substantial public endorsement of its superlative merits as an entertainment. The story of Mr. Smith's new comedy is a comic structure which has its foundation in a sentimental escapade on the part of Margery Lee, a stage struck girl engaged to Phil Fullerton, a Columbia junior; and Dorothy Grey, a fellow student, secretly married to Jack Everleigh, an Annapolis cadet. There parts are played by Nevada Hebron, Percy Leach, Gertrude Millington and Harry Stuart. There are three acts, the scenes of which show a dormitory in a young women's seminary with the pupils engaged in a clandestine midnight supper, the kitchen of the cooking school of "The Liberty Belles," and the veranda and grounds of a fashionable hotel in Florida. The first act has attracted very wide attention because of its novelty and entirely new departure from anything heretofore seen in this city. Twenty very handsome young women appear in all sorts of disabillie costumes, but yet not one word of adverse comment has been uttered against this feature of the performance. The scenery and costumes are superb. The young women of the company who attracted such great attention are Gertrude Millington, Nevada Hebron, Rita Knight, Marie Twohey, Maybelle Adams and Cora Isam. At the Auditorium tomorrow evening.

AUDITORIUM SATURDAY.

Associated with Porter J. White who will be seen at the Auditorium on next Saturday, Feb. 21, in George M. Baker's beautiful version of "Francesca da Rimini," are actors and actresses who have had long and varied experiences on the stage, especially in the romantic and tragic field. They have been selected after careful consideration of their special fitness for the parts assigned them and in this work Mr. White has been indeed fortunate for he has gathered about him a company that is undoubtedly one of the most evenly balanced in the land and the production has made a big success in every city in which it has so far been presented this season.

PLENTY OF GAS

Has Newark While Other Cities are Suffering

Newark is Exceedingly Fortunate in Being Right at the Edge of the Biggest Natural Gas Field in Ohio.

The cold weather of the past few days, which has held the entire country in its frigid grasp, is to give way. It is prophesied, to more seasonable conditions. The suffering has been very general, and in some localities extremely severe. The inconvenience and distress occasioned by the cold wave, has been in inverse ratio to the extremities of temperature. In the Dakotas, Wisconsin, Idaho and the great northwest, where the thermometers have registered from 30 to 40 degrees below zero, these extremes of frigidity have found the inhabitants to a great extent, prepared and the misery has been comparatively of little consequence.

Further east, in Chicago for instance, conditions prevailed that made the spell of low temperature a veritable blight of desolation and death. These conditions involved a shortness of fuel supply, poverty and a general unpreparedness for low temperature extremes. On the east to New York the same conditions were apparent, in the metropolis, where the temperature has never been below zero, during the past few days, much misery and suffering was occasioned.

The one condition of shortness of coal for fuel, obtained throughout the vast area between Chicago and New York, in the zone of frigidity. Towns in this territory which used natural gas for fuel, depended upon it and for a time were exempt from the general shiver, but when the pressure became low, and the supply of gas scarce, these towns were even more helpless than their neighbors, in the merciless clutch of Jack Frost.

In towns of this class every preparation had been made for burning gas, covering a period of years, and in many instances, stove pipes had no arrangement by which other fuel could be used, even if an accident were at hand.

Newark, which is the most fortunately situated city in the state, as regards a natural gas fuel supply, has had an abundance of gas, while Dayton, Sidney, Piqua, Troy and Urbana, have experienced a fuel famine and it was estimated that 10,000 people at times towns were virtually without gas, during the past few days.

These facts suggested a condition, that had many interesting features, which were investigated by the Advocate this morning.

The towns mentioned as well as Columbus and Newark have, for the past dozen years, or at least eight years, depended entirely upon the Sugar Grove field, near Logan, for their natural gas supply. It is the history of every field in which natural gas operations have been carried on successfully, that after the time of its full development, the supply will decrease a certain per cent every year, until it is exhausted. This is perfectly natural, as the gas is used faster than it is formed in the rock. This condition has arrived in the Sugar Grove district. The supply is nearly exhausted, and the towns that are supplied from this field exclusively, find themselves with a very limited amount, when extra demands are made by a spell of cold weather. This has been foreseen and, other fields have been developed, the most prolific of which has been found in the northern part of Licking county, generally known as the Homer field. These wells have been drilled, the supply piped and the entire field developed within the past two years, until now it has reached the highest productive point, possible.

The Edward H. Everett Company and the Newark Natural Gas Company have been pioneers in the territory and the great majority of wells are owned, or controlled by them.

The Everett Company has 20 wells and the Newark Company about 60, the supply for the present being inexhaustible.

Last December the gas from the Everett wells was piped into the Newark Company's mains from the Sugar Grove field. The gas from the latter field has reached such a low pressure that compressors or pumps are being used to their utmost limit, to force the gas through the pipes. With this supply, reinforced by the gas from the Everett wells, the supply is practically inexhaustible.

The Homer field is also for the present, supplying the northwestern Ohio towns of Tiffin, Fostoria, Mr. Gilead, Mansfield, Bucyrus and others.

The present satisfactory status of the gas situation, barring any unforeseen accident, will continue during the present winter, and by next year the line from the wonderful West Virginia fields, will be completed. These fields are the best in the country, much more prolific than the famous Sugar Grove, when at its very highest productive excellence.

The line to join the mains of the Newark company, is nearly two-thirds finished, and will be completed by next year.

Reinforced by this great supply, that from the Homer field will, to all intents take the place of the Sugar Grove gas.

The Newark Company under the management of Mr. Charles Elliott, has been courteous to its customers, and all feel grateful for the abundant supply of fuel that the company is providing in the present time of need.

It looks a little like running it in when a man must freeze to death on an empty stomach.

A freezing man won't make much effort to be good when he knows that hell is a warm place.

The real "winter sports" are the men and women who won't let anybody suffer if they can prevent it.

NO ARGUMENT NEEDED.

Every Sufferer from Catarrh Knows That Salves, Lotions, Washes, Sprays and Douches do not Cure.

Powders, lotions, salves, sprays and inhalers cannot really cure Catarrh, because this disease is a blood disease, and local applications, if they accomplish anything at all, simply give transient relief.

The catarrhal poison is in the blood and the mucous membrane of the nose, throat, and trachea tries to relieve the system by secreting large quantities of mucus, the discharge sometimes closing up the nostrils, dropping into the throat, causing deafness by closing the Eustachian tubes, and after a time causing catarrh of stomach or serious throat and lung troubles.

A remedy to really cure catarrh must be an internal remedy which will cleanse the blood from catarrhal poison and remove the fever and congestion from the mucous membrane. The best and most modern remedies for this purpose are antiseptics scientifically known as Red Gum, Blood Root and Hydrasin, and while each of these have been successfully used separately, yet it has been difficult to get them all combined in one palatable, convenient and efficient form.

The manufacturers of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, have succeeded admirably in accomplishing this result. They are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, to be dissolved in the mouth, thus reaching every part of the mucous membrane of the throat and finally the stomach. Unlike many catarrh remedies, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain no cocaine, opium or any injurious drug whatever and are equally beneficial to little children and adults.

Mr. C. R. Reubrandt of Rochester, N. Y., says: "I know of few people who have suffered as much as I from Catarrh of the head, throat and stomach. I used sprays, inhalers, and powders for months at a time with only slight relief and had no hope of cure. I had not the means to make a change of climate, which seemed my only chance of cure."

"Last spring I read an account of some remarkable cures made by Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and promptly bought a fifty cent box from my druggist and obtained such positive benefit from that one package that I continued to use them daily until I now consider myself entirely free from the disgusting annoyance of catarrh; my head is clear, my digestion all I could ask and my hearing which had begun to fail as a result of the catarrh, has greatly improved until I feel I can hear as well as ever. They are a household necessity in my family."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold by druggists at 10 cents for complete treatment and for convenience, safety and prompt results they are undoubtedly the long looked for catarrh cure.

BIG TRACTION PROJECT

Unique Scheme to Improve Beach at Atlantic City.

ELECTRIC LINE ON OCEAN FRONT.

Syndicate Proposes to Build New Board Walk, With Trolleys Underneath—It Will Be Ten Miles Long. New Promenade to Extend, When Finished, From the Inlet to Longport.

The most ambitious scheme for the development of a seaside resort ever attempted, in the United States at least, is taking shape at Atlantic City, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch. It is backed by a syndicate of railroad men, and, inferentially, by the Pennsylvania railroad. It has for its object the solution of the rapid transit problem along the ocean front and the development of the beach front all the way from the Inlet to Longport.

The present scheme is to suspend electric cars from the steel girders of the board walk and operate them by means of the single rail system. This plan would obviate the chief objection to a transportation line along the beach front from the fact that it would neither interfere with a view of the ocean from the promenade or the beach front hotels nor obstruct access to the bathing grounds from the bathhouses.

These considerations have blocked all previous plans for transportation facilities on the ocean front, because all of them interfered more or less with the view or travel to the beach. To overcome these objections and to put the present plan into execution would require the elevation of the board walk from four to six feet. In other words, an entirely new board walk would have to be built throughout its length of five miles. This the syndicate would undertake to do, in addition to extending it to Longport, a total distance of ten miles.

The promoters of the traction enterprise propose taking this contract from the city and building the promenade on a line to be agreed upon by the city authorities and the property owners. The new structure will be built on massive steel pillars, and the walk will be eighty feet in width, and probably 100 feet in the congested district in the vicinity of the big ocean piers. The electric line will be double tracked from the Inlet to Chelsea and single tracked, with switchouts, from that point to Longport.

The syndicate will also build at least four immense hotels—one at Chelsea, one a Ventnor, another at South Atlantic and the fourth at Longport. Cottages and villas will also be erected along the entire line of the road.

VALUE OF NEW TELEGRAPHY

British Scientist Says Wireless Art Reveals Spiritual Realm.

Sir Oliver Lodge, principal of the University of Birmingham, the man who first set Europe thinking of wireless telegraphy, said to the London correspondent of the Chicago News the other day: "This new art is destined to exercise a profound influence on the intellectual and spiritual capabilities of the masses of mankind. It tends to bridge the way for the man in the street between the visible and invisible worlds. Hitherto this useful and inoffensive citizen has regarded psychical investigation as little else than an organized search for ghosts and has pronounced psychical enthusiasts cranks, while gravely doubting the good faith of the greater number of them."

"Wireless telegraphy deals these prejudices a shattering blow and therefore opens up to the man in the street the wide and attractive field of mental development. In other words, it indicates to the ordinary individual, who, after all, is the backbone of progress, that the universe may obtain some very profound realities that lie beyond the reach of physical sense. This realization is bound to loosen the bonds of materialism and to give freer play to human intelligence and human faith. The time is rapidly approaching when the uncompromising materialists will receive the sneers that are now directed against the scientific inquirer who points his searchlight across the borders of the universe of sense."

Secretary Shaw's Report.

An example of the ready repartee of Secretary Leslie M. Shaw of the treasury department was related at the Fifth Avenue hotel in New York the other day, says the New York Mail and Express. The secretary, attending a church service in Washington, joined heartily in the hymns, and after the service one of the members of the congregation said:

"Mr. Secretary, I am glad to see you do your part in the singing."

"Well," drawled the secretary, "they say money talks, so I am sure the secretary of the treasury ought to sing."

Advanced Rank For War Veterans.

A movement has been started in behalf of such noncommissioned officers and men in the army who had a civil war record to have extended to them the same privilege as is given to commissioned officers—that is, of retiring with the next higher rank than they possess at the time of their retirement. Thus noncommissioned officers of the highest rank would retire with the grade of second lieutenant. Privates would retire with the grade of corporal.

A Day of Surprises

When Pauline awoke that morning, her first thought was what a long, long day it would be without mamma. Pauline and her mother had been boarding at a farmhouse when Pauline had been taken sick, and she and mamma had had a long three weeks in their two rooms. Polly was almost well now, but she was not allowed to go out or to have any callers. And now mamma had to go in the city to see papa and the boys and would be gone all day. She had planned to start by an early train before Polly was awake, and she would not get back until after 6 o'clock at night. But Polly had promised to be brave and cheerful, because she knew mamma really must go.

Mamma had said that Polly should have some surprises during the day to make it pleasant. Polly dearly loved surprises when they were pleasant ones. The first one came when Betsy brought in the breakfast tray. As the cover was lifted from the plate of hot toast Polly gave a gasp and then a laugh. The toast had been cut in one big circle, and eyes, nose and mouth were marked on it in bright currant jelly. A card in front of the plate had these lines in mamma's writing:

The man in the moon
Came down quite soon
To inquire the way to Polly.
His picture is here,
In jelly so clear.
So eat it all and be jolly.

When Polly began to drink her cocoa, she found another card under the cup, with these lines:

When you've drunk your cocoa up,
Look in the box beneath the cup.

Polly finished every crumb of the nice breakfast in a pleasant feeling of excitement. The surprises were beginning already, and there promised to be more of them.

There was a thin, flat box under the cup and saucer. It was wrapped in white paper and tied with ribbon. When Betsy had gone out with the tray, Polly opened the box. In it was a puzzle made from a bright colored picture on a stiff card that had been cut in many odd pieces. Polly had to spend some time in getting all the pieces together properly so as to make the picture complete. A note in the box read:

How is my little daughter? I hope she will have a pleasant day. Perhaps she will like to finish Miranda Jane's white apron. When she gets it all done and dolly is dressed in it, then read the note in Miranda's dress pocket. Mamma loves her Polly very much.

Polly finished the sewing and then dressed Miranda and played with her awhile. She had forgotten to look for the note in dolly's pocket, but when she remembered about it she read it eagerly:

Betsy is coming at 10 o'clock with your glass of milk, and then she will bring you another surprise. Guess what it will be. Polly had not long to wait until 10 o'clock came. She drank the milk and ate the new cookies that Betsy had just baked. Betsy had laughed when Polly asked if the cookies were the surprise and had said, "No, indeed." She came in again in a very few minutes. It was—kittens, two of them, borrowed from a neighbor. They were just big enough to toddle about, and how Polly did enjoy them!

Through the afternoon there were more surprises. One was a new story book that a note on her dinner tray told her she would find in mamma's lower bureau drawer.

Another note brought in by Betsy later said there were four little presents hidden in the room, every one marked "Polly," and she might have a game of hunt the slipper from them.

One present was a tiny box of big, fat raisins. That was on the floor under the sofa. Another was a new pink hair ribbon. That was in a white envelope that was fastened to the back of the looking glass. It was really very strange that Polly found it. There was a lace trimmed handkerchief, so small that it could only be meant for Miranda. There was a little purse with three bright pennies in it.

Then Betsy came in to say: "Your mamma said I might tell you there would be one more surprise at half past 5 o'clock."

When Betsy had gone, Polly lay down for a while, because she was rather tired. It was lonesome now, and, although she had had a pleasant day, oh, she did want mamma now! But before she had time to be very lonesome she fell asleep.

"Wake up, little daughter! Supper is nearly ready. How does Polly like me for a surprise?"

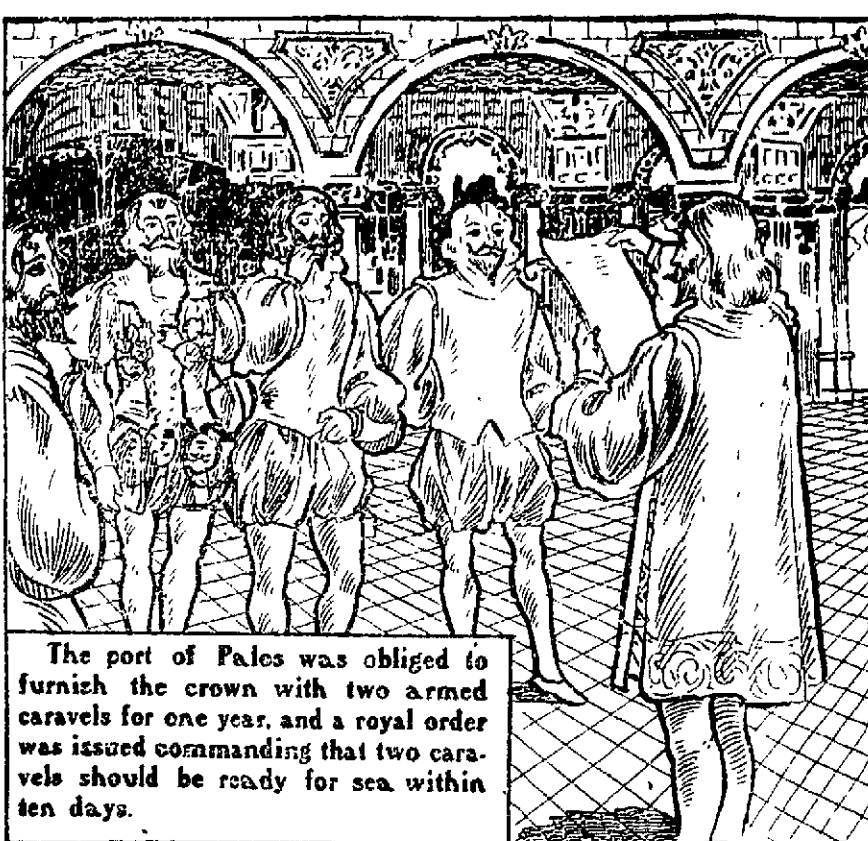

Mamma had come home an hour earlier than she had told Polly to expect her. That was the very nicest surprise at half past 5 o'clock—Mama Kenaston in Youth's Companion.

INGRATITUDE

By William Shakespeare

LOW, blow, thou winter wind,
Thou art not so unkind,
As man's ingratitude;
Thy tooth is not so keen,
Because thou art not seen,
Although thy breath be rude.
Heigh-ho! sing, heigh-ho! unto the green holly:
Most friendship is feigning, most loving mere folly:
Then, heigh-ho! the holly!
This life is most jolly!

Freeze, freeze, thou bitter sky,
Thou dost not bite so nigh
As benefits forgot.
Though thou the waters warp,
Thy sting is not so sharp
As friend remembered not.
Heigh-ho! sing heigh-ho! unto the green holly:
Most friendship is feigning, most loving mere folly:
Then, heigh-ho! the holly!
This life is most jolly!

DEATH CAROL

By Walt Whitman

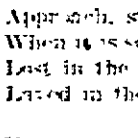

COME, lovely and soothing death,
Undulate round the world, serenely arriving,
In the day, in the night, in all, to each,
Sooner or later, delicate death.

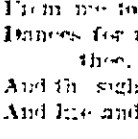

Praised be the fathomless universe,
For life and joy, and for objects and knowledge curious;
And for love, sweet love; but praise! praise!
For the sure-enveloping arms of cool-enfolding Death.

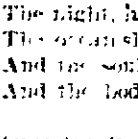

Dark mother, always gliding near, with soft feet,
Have none charmed for thee a chant of fullest welcome?
Then I chant it for thee: I glorify thee above all:
I bring thee a song that when thou must indeed come, come unfalteringly.

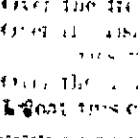

Approach, strong deliverer!
When it is so—when thou hast taken them, I joyously sing thee dead,
Lost in the loving, floating ocean of thee,
Lured in the flood of thy bliss, O Death!

From me to these glad serenades,
Dances for thee I propose, saluting their adornments and feastings for thee.
And in the sights of the open land—open, and the high spread—
And life and the fields, and the huge and thoughtful night!

The night, ha—there, under many a star,
The ocean shore, and the line by whispering waves, whose—
And the soul turning to thee, O vast and well-voiced Dea—
And the body, gratefully resting close to thee.

Over the hills I first sang a song,
Over the hills I first sang a song,
Over the hills I first sang a song,
Over the hills I first sang a song.

THE COLLECTOR OF THE PORT

On the coast of South Carolina lived during the first decade after the civil war Colonel Jim Blithers. When peace came Colonel Jim became collector of customs at the little seaport town in which he lived.

"We shall see," said the old man, "whether these thieves shall continue to beat the United States as they beat the Confederacy. I propose, sub, to see that the government gets its honest dues, sub, or my name's not Jim Blithers."

As no goods were ever received at the collector's custom house, it was not difficult to make good his words, but he drew his salary regularly and talked continually of the (imaginary) efforts that were constantly being made to land goods at the port without the payment of duties.

About ten years after the close of the war, and when Colonel Jim had been running the custom house the greater part of that time without catching a single smuggler, up comes yellow jack from the tropics and passes all custom houses on the southern coast without reference to the vigilance of any collector.

"I tell you, sub," said the collector, "it behooves me to be most watchful than ever. Taking advantage of the demoralization existing along the coast, smugglers will swam about ere you po'te."

One day a schooner appeared in the harbor and dipped anchor about two miles from the custom house. From her foremast she flew a yellow flag and from her peak the stars and bars of the late Confederacy. Colonel Jim looked out of his office window, and when he saw the beloved ensign he forgot his fears of the fever denoted by the bit of yellow bunting, and his heart bled for the inmates of the ship. He took up a glass to inspect her, and as he did so a boat was lowered from her davits. Then some sailors got into the boat. And what is that long, narrow box swinging in the air and slowly descending into the boat? A coffin! The collector swept the deck with his glass, but all who were visible were standing above the boat and every one uncovered, while a man stood with his face bent over a book. It did not require the acute brain of the collector to see that a funeral was taking place on board.

Then a dingy was lowered, and, followed by the hearseboat, it was pulled toward the custom house. Some distance from the shore the crew of the latter rested on their oars while the dingy pulled on. Then a man came ashore and made for the collector's office. The collector went out to meet them.

"I have come, sub," said the man, "to ask permission to bury the body of"—he broke down and wept copiously—"of my beloved sister, who accompanied my wife and myself on this voyage. I command the vessel you see anchored there, sub, the Robert E. Lee, named for the great commander. We took the fever on board at Havana and have lost three men, buried at sea. I despatch to bury my dear Lucy on land, so that I may remove the body hereafter to our home in Mobile."

"Captain," said the collector, "I could not look upon the evidence of your loyalty to our lost cause in yonder flag and refuse your request. If you will take the body up there about a mile north of the town, I think our citizens will not object, and as collectors of the port you have my permission."

The captain burst into tears of gratitude, and with a pathetic remark linking his lost sister with the lost cause, he was pulled back to the hearseboat. Then the body was taken to the point designated and buried.

The next day another funeral came. This time it was the captain's wife who had died, having been taken ill only the night before. The captain was so sorely broken down that he found it necessary to send for Colonel Jim's permission to bury the body, which was granted. The collector, not relishing this continued contact with the crew of a fever stricken schooner, now instructed the messenger to announce to the captain that he might bury any one else who died without a special permit. During the next few days nearly all the crew must have died, for every day there were several funerals. Meanwhile the Confederate flag was lowered to half mast.

One morning Colonel Jim was sitting at his office window, with his feet on his desk and a cigar in his mouth, when he noticed signs of a commotion on the schooner's deck. Taking up his glass to see what was the matter, he caught on the watery horizon the image of a low propeller, topped by a pillar of black smoke. The schooner got up sail and anchor with remarkable haste, but as there was no wind she did not budge. The propeller came nearer, and the collector saw flying from her peak the perpendicular stripes of the United States revenue flag. The revenue cutter bore down on the schooner and sent a boat aboard. The Confederate and sick flag had meanwhile disappeared. Then a boat came ashore with a man in uniform in the stern and a midshipman the captain of the Robert E. Lee.

"Are you the collector?" asked the officer of Colonel Jim.

"Yes, sub, I have that honor."

"Well, then, I want to introduce you to Bill Jimson of New London, the slipperiest smuggler on the Atlantic coast. He's been running goods ashore in coffins and has landed quite a cargo."

The buried goods were never found, since they had been received and run off by a confederate. Captain Jim retained his post on, but finally died of the fever his fellow townsman leaped upon him.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Ethel's Travels.

It was mamma's wish that the playroom should be left in order each night before ten. But four-year-old Ethel did not always like to pick up her playthings until her brother George invented a play for it. This was to take a voyage in their ship, gathering the scattered toys for cargo.

The ship was an empty wooden box large enough to hold them both. George had fitted a pair of old wooden wheels to its broad sides, so it moved along quite easily when he, standing in the box ship, pushed it along with his pole.

It was a very accommodating ship, for when they wished to travel on land it was at once a train of cars or, if need be, a stagecoach and then a ship again.

They had often traveled in this good ship, and at one port they take on board boxes of raisins. You might think they were alphabet blocks if I did not tell you. At another they carefully stow away a case of gold watches and jewelry. Do not think that they are tiddlywink counters. On again until they find a lady shipwrecked and all alone on an island. What fun to rescue her! It is about time, for she must be faint from loss of sawdust.

On and on the cargo increases—straw hats, cases of silk, casks of wine, crates of fruit, whole cartloads of oranges, all find a place as on they go. The journeys are apt to be in the region of George's geography lessons. Can you guess what map he is studying just now?

At last they come to the port where they are to unload (at other times called a cupboard).

It is surprising how many merchants come to meet them and claim a share of the cargo. To be sure, they are not to be seen, and all their voices have a resemblance to George's, but Ethel listens and laughs with glee as the "captain" answers them each one and tells the sailors where to put the goods. And now the voyage is over, the ship is anchored at its wharf next to the rocking horse's stable, and, lo, the playroom is tidy.

One day Mr. Karr, the minister, came to take tea at Ethel's home. He had just returned from abroad and talked entertainingly of the places he had visited. Little Ethel was so much interested that she almost forgot to eat, listening with shining eyes.

The minister noticed the animated face and said kindly, "You're greatly interested, aren't you, little one?"

And then Ethel astonished every one by replying eagerly, "Es, sir, 'cause I've been to a-l-d-dose places!"—Rebe Weste in Youth's Companion.

The Boy Webster.

Daniel Webster as a lad is thus described by John Bach McMaster, the historian, in the first of his illustrated papers on the statesman, published in the Century: "As the boy grew in years and stature his life was powerfully affected by the fact that he was the youngest son and ninth child in a family of ten, that his health was far from good, that he showed tastes and mental traits that stood out in marked contrast with those of his brothers and sisters and that he was from infancy the pet of the family. Such daily work as a farmer's lad was then made to do was not for him. Yet he was expected to do something, and he might have been seen barefooted, in frock and trousers, astride of the horse that dragged the plow between the rows of corn or raking hay or binding the wheat the reapers cut or following the cows to pasture in the morning and home again at night or tending logs in his father's sawmill. When such work was to be done, it was his custom to take a book along, set the log, hoist the gates, and while the saw passed slowly through the tree trunk, an operation which in those days consumed some twenty minutes, he would settle himself comfortably and read."

Pin Run.

Young folk fond of a lively romp will like pin run. It is easily arranged. Fill an ordinary square box with soft wood ashes or sawdust. Give each player half a dozen pins and let him run around the room six times, endeavoring each time he reaches the sawdust box to drop a pin in such a way that it will stand upright in the sawdust.

A quick run is not necessary and might prove exhausting. A gentle trot is best, but the player must neither stop nor hesitate in passing the box to let fall his pin. He who succeeds in making the most pins stand upright is the victor in the game.

The Cradle Ship.

There's a tiny ship, with its sails so white—
Oh, the precious freight that it bears to-night!
There's a faithful watch and a song of joy
That a mother sings to her sailor boy,
Then it's high-low, dear, and it's by-low, dear,
And a bright lookout to keep,
While my wee one sails with the rosy gales
To the pleasant port of Sleep.

Oh, the gentle hand at the helm to guide,
While the tiny ship swings on the soundless tide,
To the golden isle, all with gems arrayed,
Where by fairy hands pretty dreams are made!

Belts are now of great importance, and there are wide ones for the full, soft blouses of flannel crape or oriental silk and narrow ones excessively elongated in front to wear with the waists which have closely fitted backs and for the blouse coat, which is usually worn with a narrow waistband.

An up to date chemise is here shown. The fullness is held in as far down as the waist.

GREAT TIME

IS THE PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER HAVING.

Miss Roosevelt is Charmed With the Delightful Hospitality of the Southern People.

New Orleans, Feb. 19.—Miss Alice Roosevelt is having the time of her life in New Orleans, and does not hesitate to say so. She is charmed with the quaint city and the delightful hospitality which has been extended her.

The tribute paid her by the Atlanteans Tuesday night was as pleasing to her as it was unexpected. It was not so much the courtesy extended as the delicacy with which the compliment was paid. The spontaneous welcome which greeted her as she stepped upon the maskers' platform was also a source of pleasure to her.

After the ball Miss Roosevelt, Miss Root and Mrs. and Miss McIlhenny were entertained at supper by Mr. and Mrs. George Denegre. Yesterday Miss Roosevelt and her companions rested from the dissipation of the night and did not leave the McIlhenny home until they entered the carriage to drive to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Norvin F. Harris, where a luncheon was given in Miss Roosevelt's honor. The luncheon was most elaborate. Last evening Mrs. McIlhenny entertained at dinner, Miss Roosevelt occupying the seat of honor.

Today brought another luncheon, with Miss Roosevelt as the guest of honor, and tonight the Krewe of Momus will afford entertainment by their parade and ball. It will be Miss Roosevelt's first glimpse of a Mardi Gras procession, and she is looking forward to it eagerly. It is whispered that she will again be shown distinction at the ball, which will follow the parade.

Saturday a luncheon will be tendered Miss Roosevelt and the French opera will be visited Saturday night. Miss McCormick of Chicago, heiress to O. T. McCormick's millions, arrived on a special train in her own private car. She has a party of five young ladies with her and a chaperone. She has leased a handsome residence on Prytanis street for the carnival. When the carnival is over she and her friends will spend several weeks at her winter home at Palm Beach, Fla.

THOUGHT HE WAS DRIVING A BARGAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—On the supposition that he was adopting a daughter of a prince of Italy and that he was paying $7328 for what would eventually net him $50,000, Charles Bartholomew, a confectioner at 1228 Milwaukee avenue, gave up his all for a bag full of paper.

The transaction took place in the Bismark hotel and it was only half an hour after the deal had been closed that Bartholomew discovered he had been duped.

He managed to make his way to detective headquarters, where, with beads of perspiration on his brow, he told his saddest of sad stories.

A dozen detectives searched the down town streets, but vainly and when they returned to the hotel Bartholomew was prostrated.

The swindle is the second one of a similar kind reported to the police within a week, and the total profit netted by the confidence men is more than $13,000.

The police are inclined to believe that both were perpetrated by the same men.

ABSOLUTE CURE FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

No Matter How Long You Have Had It—NAU'S DYSPEPSIA CURE—IT CURES THE CAUSE.

"For 20 years until within the last 15 months I have been greatly troubled with indigestion and have used a great many remedies without obtaining any permanent relief. About the 15th of June, 1900, I commenced using Nau's Dyspepsia Cure, and am pleased to say that I consider myself entirely cured of all stomach troubles. I have delayed expressing to you my opinion of your valuable remedy until such a time has elapsed as to convince me of my entire recovery. At the time I began to use Nau's Dyspepsia Cure, my health was in a critical condition, and my friends had almost given up hopes of my recovery, and I am satisfied in my opinion that had it not been for Nau's Dyspepsia Cure, I could not be alive to write this letter." ## Paine's Celery Compound

Rescues a Sufferer Who Had Given Up All Hope.

The liver, the largest and one of the most important organs of the body is to thousands of young and old a source of suffering. It has been truly said that a diseased liver means physical and mental tortures and dangers. The common symptoms of liver complaint are loss of appetite, nausea, vomiting, furred tongue, constipation, impure blood, headache, depression of spirits and a host of other evils.

Are you a victim of liver complaint? Do you experience any of the symptoms noted above? If so, do not fail to make immediate use of Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that directly strikes the root of the trouble and that infuses new life into every inactive organ. Mr. C. U. Beaumont, Memphis, Tenn., gives the following testimony:—

"For many years I was a sufferer from liver trouble, and at times endured terrible agonies. My blood was in bad condition, and headache and constipation added to my miseries. The doctors were unable to cure me, and I lost all hope and at times wished for death. Upon the advice of a friend, I commenced to use your wonderful Paine's Celery compound. After taking the medicine for two weeks, I felt very much improved. I have taken in all seven bottles and thank God, I am today healthy and strong. Paine's Celery Compound saved me from the grave. I shall always recommend it."

GRADUATE

From Heidelberg University Was Sentenced to Serve Ten Years—The Judge's Apt Quotation.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 19.—Ernest Horne, the Heidelberg graduate and duplicate key man, who robbed a number of houses here, pleaded guilty to five charges and was sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary for each offense. Under these circumstances Horne will serve 10 years. The prisoner asked Judge Wright to be lenient; that he intended to reform and lead a different life. The Court said:

"Ah, no. When the devil was sick the devil a monk would be; when the devil got well, the devil a monk was he."

Horne differed greatly in appearance from the general run of criminals usually seen in the prisoners' dock. His education at the German University had placed the stamp of student on him, and his manner and bearing bespoke a different career than that of a sneak thief. Horne carried a bunch of keys which he fitted to the locks of the house he wanted to enter.

NARROW

Escape From Sinking Had Big Steamer Queen City at Paducah, Kentucky.

Paducah, Ky., Feb. 19.—Instead of will then receive $4 per day for their flags flying, bands playing, crowds cheering, the big steamer Queen City, en route south with 125 excursionists on board from Pittsburg, Cincinnati and other points, came very near being wrecked yesterday against the shore just below the mouth of Island Creek.

Seized by a terrific wind as she went through the chute from the other side into the Tennessee the great river packet was blown against the bank, striking the piling of the logway used by the Ferguson-Palmer mills at Third and Elizabeth streets. The collision did not do a great amount of damage to the boat, but she was in imminent danger of being sunk in the huge waves until a number of workmen on land succeeded in making fast lines which were thrown hurriedly from the decks of the boat.

When the crash came the boat under the effect of the wind, keeled over and the water ran over her lower deck, and fear was felt that she might sink before she could right herself. She straightened in a moment but was then in danger of being carried down stream and sunk. A number of the passengers were badly frightened, but the majority kept cool and no panic occurred. The river was the roughest in years. The Queen City reached the wharf at 1 p. m. and left for New Orleans two hours later.
